Poetical.

WHAT I LIVE FOR.

I live for those who love me,
For those I know are true,
For the Heaven that smiles above me
And awaits my spirit, too;
For all human ties that bind me,
For the task my God assigned me,
For the bright hopes left behind me,
And the good that I can do.

I live to learn their story,
Who've suffered for my sake,
To emulate their glory,
And follow in their wake;
Bards, martyrs, patriots, sages,
The noble of all ages
Whose deeds crown history's pages,
And time's great volume make.

I live to hail that season
By gifted minds foretold,
When men shall live by reason,
And not alone for gold.
When man to man united,
And every wrong thing righted,
As Eden was of old,

I love to hold communion
With all that is divine,
To feel that there is union
'Twixt Nature's heart and mine;
To profit by affliction,
Reap truth from fields of fiction,
Grow wiser from conviction—
Fulfilling God's design.

I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the Heaven that smiles above me
And waits my spirit too;
For the wrongs that need resistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do.

Select Story.

THAT BOY.

'Husband, there is somebody out in the yard sawing wood. Who do you suppose it is?'

Farmer Granger turned himself in bed, listened a moment, and then, with the sleepy sigh of one who realizes that the time for dreaming is over and work hours are at hand, replied:

'It is old Warner, likely. He's had time to get over his tantrum. I'll see.'

The farmer's toilet was not one that required hours to perfect, and before Mrs. Granger had concluded that it was time to be stirring, the brown trousers and blue frock of her husband could have been seen at the further end of the big kitchen, while two keen gray eyes were peering through the half open blind.

No red-nosed, haggard faced old man met his gaze, but a pale-cheeked, bare-footed boy, whose low whistle kept time as he worked, while the heap of sticks at his feet gave evidence that his saw had made quick pace since sunrise.

'What are you about, boy?' was the farmer's salutation, as he approached the wood pile.

'I thought, may be, you would give me some breakfast, if I sawed awhile,' answered the lad, looking up to note how his proposition would be received.

'Breakfast! Of course! We never turn folks away hungry. Where did you come from?'

'Over East,' was the indefinite reply.

'Where'd you sleep last night?'

'Under the bushes, down the road apiece,' the boy answered.

'Well, you're a great one! I shouldn't wonder, now, if you'd run away?' half interrogated the farmer, with a pleasant twinkle in his eye. 'Do you mind telling your name?'

'Jap, sir.'

'Jap, hey?'

'That's what they call me—my real name is Jasper.'

'Who are they—your father and your mother?'

'I haven't any, sir.'

'Brothers and sisters?'

'Not one,' was the curt reply.

The farmer looked sharply at the boy from under his broad brimmed hat, as the saw plied to and fro, and doubtless he would have pushed his inquiries still further had not the impatient lowing of Whitney and Doll reminded him that it was milking time.

'Well, you don't look over and above strongish. You'd better let that wood alone till you get some victuals down.'

'I'd rather keep on,' was the only answer; and the work proceeded with no interruption till Ethel, the three year old pet of the family, came trotting around the corner of the house to announce in her baby fashion that 'bekast' was ready.

'Come right in, come right in. You've earned a good meal of victuals;' and Farmer Granger led the way, with his little girl perched upon his shoulder.

The lad silently took the place assigned him at one end of the table, opposite Ethel and her father, while Mrs. Granger and a happy-faced old lady occupied seats on either side.

The first supply of broiled ham and baked potatoes had disappeared from the boy's plate and the second installment was vanishing bit by bit, when Mrs. Granger suddenly discovered that he had no butter.

'No, ma'am; I don't care for it—this bread is good enough without butter,' was the reply when the plate was passed.

Mrs. Granger received this compliment with a pleased smile, and an extra large doughnut immediately found its way to accompany the butterless bread.

'I'd like to work a while longer to pay for that breakfast,' remarked the boy as he followed the farmer through the wood house. 'I haven't tasted anything so good for a long time;' and the saw was taken up without waiting for permission.

'Well, if you've a mind to cut and pile up a spell, you can stay and get your dinner. We always mean to have good victuals and plenty of them.'

Mrs. Granger stopped now and then to look out of the buttery window; and 'I wonder who that boy is anyhow?' was repeated more than once that morning to grandma, who sat in the little old rocker quietly knitting.

'Now, where are you bound for?' questioned the farmer, as the lad picked up his bundle after dinner and seemed ready to take his departure.

'I don't know, sir,' he replied, digging his toes into the dirt. 'I 'spose I'll stop anywhere I can get work.'

'What's the mater with this place?' with a twinkle of the gray eyes. 'There's wood to cut, and it'll take three or four days at the least calculation. I'll agree to give you enough to eat and a comfortable bed. May be by that time you will want to run home again.'

The boy's eye's flashed, but he set his lips firmly together and made no answer for a minute. Then he said:

'You are very kind sir. I'll stay if you will let me.'

'Solomon Granger, you are crazy!' exclaimed the nervous little woman when her husband related the foregoing conversation. 'The idea of having that boy in the house all night. I shan't sleep a wink. Likely as not he'll kill us all before morning, and make off with everything there is here.'

'Oh, no; I guess he's all right,' was the farmer's rejoinder, while a sweet voice came from over the knitting.

'I never saw a boy with such a face that had anything in him but good, honest blood. Depend on't, Lowly, there ain't nothing wrong about the boy.'

But suspicious Mrs. Granger locked her pantry door that night, her china closet, the spare front room, the trunk in the attic that held her best linen, and lastly the door of her grandma's room—the old lady protesting 'I ain't a mite afraid, Lowly,' having no effect on her.

'Well, I'm thankful we're all here,' was the good woman's ejaculation, as she unbolted her bedroom door after a night of uneasy dreams. I don't know what the boy might do. It fidgets me to death to have him around. I do wish you would find out who he is, Solomon.

'He don't seem inclined to tell, and I don't want to be too inquisitive, wife. It will come out sooner or later.'

Two days passed. The lad kept faithfully at his work, saying little and revealing nothing in regard to himself. The farmer's wife meanwhile worried and fretted, turned a dozen keys at night, and was surprised when morning dawned to find everything untouched.

'What are you going to do about going to church?' she asked, anxiously, on Sunday morning. 'There's that boy.'

'There's room enough in the wagon,' responded the husband, serenely.

'I know—but 'tant a bit likely he'll want to go. And I don't dare to leave him at home. There'll be no telling what he'll do.'

'I wouldn't worry about that boy. He ain't going off with the house.'

'Well, I shall lock up everything, and take Ethel, too. We can come home at noon if she gets tired. He's been here just long enough to find out where I keep my silver and all. And there's grandma—it ain't safe to leave her alone with him!'

'Law, me, Lowly! that boy ain't a going to hurt me;' and the old lady laughed a low, incredulous laugh.

'I ain't so sure about it,' said Mrs. Granger, nodding mysteriously. If anything should happen I should never forgive myself. I wish he would go with us husband.'

The proffered seat, however, was declined, the boy saying:

'My clothes ain't fit. I'd rather stay round here.'

So Mrs. Granger, with numberless misgivings, clambered into the high wagon, tucked Ethel in beside her, and off they went, over the hills, to the town, two miles away.

'Let me see,' began grandma, when the last load of neighbors had passed the gate, 'your name is Jasper, ain't it?'

'Jasper, ma'am.'

'Yes. Well, Jasper, can you read?'

'Yes, ma'am.'

'Well, s'posin' you read out loud to me a spell,' and a little old book was brought out from the great chest in the corner, entitled 'Tales of a Grandmother.'

So the boy read; and grandma folding her wrinkled hands—hands that were always busy on other days—leaned back with a look of contentment on her sweet old face, thinking to herself, 'As if I'd be afeared o' that boy.'

'You must ha' been to school considerable,' was the comment, when the first chapter was ended.

'I never went,' was the response.

'Never! who learned you to read, then?'

'Mother.'

'And she's dead? you say.'

'Yes, ma'am.'

The boy seemed reluctant to engage in any conversation, and hastened to begin the second chapter. Some time passed, till at length, the one auditor falling asleep, the story was continued in silence.

Grandma's nap was brought to a sudden close by a rap on the outer door.

Two men stood on the doorstep, ill looking fellows, and very dirty in appearance.

'Can you give us something to eat?' asked one.

'Sartin, sartin; come right in and sit down,' said the old lady, bustling off to the pantry. 'Which do you like the best—apple pie or custard?' And soon a bountiful repast was spread upon the table, and the many good things vanished without ceremony.

The boy eyed the two sharply, while grandma, after receiving somewhat crusty answers to the few kindly questions, sat placidly rocking. The eyes of the men roved searchingly about the room. Finally one asked:

'Folks gone to church?'

'La, yes,' replied the old lady, innocently. 'Our folks never stay at home for nothing.'

The speaker threw a quick glance toward his companion, the other nodded. Neither movement escaped the pair of watchful eyes in the corner.

A moment after the boy left his seat in the room, stopped by the window to look up the road, and then, going through the hall which led out of the foot of the kitchen, he called from the foot of the stairs:

'Dave! Dave! you asleep there?'

'What do you want?' sounded a gruff voice down the stairway.

'Come down, can't you? And bring along Tige and Fritz. Don't go to sleep again.'

Grandma heard in mingled amazement and alarm. Could the boy be in league with these men, and another in waiting up stairs?

As if in confirmation of her fears, a low growl sounded from the room above. Then came a sharp yelp, followed by little whines of impatience; and with a careless 'Hurry up, Dave!' the lad walked leisurely back to the kitchen. As he reached the door, grandma, overwhelmed with consternation, made a desperate rush for the bedroom beyond, locking the door behind her.

The men in the meantime had neared the outer door.

'Got some dogs up there, have ye?' said one, with a disagreeable leer.

'You heard 'em, did you?' was the careless rejoinder.

'Come on, Jim!' addressing his companion. 'We might as well clear—our game's up!'

'Don't be a fool!' was the reply in an undertone. 'Who's afraid o' pups!'

Yer dogs ain't fierce, be they, youngster?'

'Fritz ain't over and above friendly to strangers,' replied the boy, cooly, 'and if I were you I wouldn't be found here when Tige gets out for a run.' Then in a louder tone:

'Dave, ain't you coming? But don't let Tige loose till these men get away.'

At this the tramps moved off, cursing the dogs, and muttering low, wrathful threats, while the lad, with a final, 'I advise you to put a good piece of the road between you and Tige!' closed the door, softly sliding the bolt.

Then going to the room where grandma lay crouched upon the bed, scarcely daring to stir, he called through the keyhole:

'They are gone. You can come out now.'

'The dogs!' gasped a faint voice.

'There ain't any!' he answered softly. 'Open the door and I'll tell you.'

The bolt was cautiously withdrawn and the old lady's face appeared, white and terrified.

'Come and sit down,' said the boy tenderly. 'I am sorry I frightened you so. I was afraid it would, but I really could not help it.'

'I won't stir a step!' said grandma, stoutly. 'What do you mean by this? You can't fool me. I heard the dogs and the men too.'

A low, pleasant laugh sounded through the room.

''Twas only me, grandma! I saw those men only meant mischief, and I knew something must be done pretty quick, so I made them believe there was somebody up there.'

'But the dogs!' cried the old lady bewildered. Where are the dogs?'

'I made them bark! Listen!'

And then came from the throat of the little ventriloquist such a torrent of growls, whines and yelps, interspersed with 'Down Tige!' and 'Be still, Fritz!' that the door was swung open, and grandma leaned against the wall, exclaiming:

'Well, I never in all my life! If you don't beat all the boys I ever did see! and there I supposed you was connivin' with them critters, and I was so scart I was just as weak as a rag.

Awhile after this fright at the farm house Old Billy with his load of three, was plodding peacefully over the brow of the little hill, a quarter of a mile from home, when suddenly Mrs. Granger's voice, wild with terror, rang out sharply on the still air:

'The house is afire!' she screamed. 'And Grandma!—oh! Solomon: if grandma is killed I will never forgive myself, never! Why did we leave that boy? Oh, run the horse, Solomon, run the horse!'

'Nonsense!' said the easy-going farmer. Nevertheless, he whipped up Old Billy, and anxiously scanned the corner of the roof visible behind the trees where the smoke was coiling up gray and thick.

A dozen or more of well-directed pails of water had done the work, however; and only wet, smoked timbers and a blackened pile of rubbish met the farmer's eye when he sprang from his wagon and alighted at the side of the breathless little worker.

The sight of the house and barn untouched, and grandma standing in the door alive and well, put all fear to flight in an instant. But there was a story to relate, and the boy stood modestly by while grandma dwelt upon the exciting events of the past hour. The tramps, it was supposed, were the incendiaries; but happily the fire had been discovered in time to prevent any damage.

The returning loads of church goers, eager to know the cause of the unusual excitement, stopped at the farm gate, and the lad suddenly found himself the hero of the hour.

'I told 'em all the kind qualities of Tige and Fritz, Uncle George's dogs!' exclaimed the boy, unmindful till the words were spoken that the hearers had never heard of 'Uncle George' before. Then with a bright blush he dropped behind one of the men, and for a time let the talk go on unheeded.

'Where o' doggies?' persisted Ethel, a few minutes later, unable to understand from whence the sound proceeded; while the others laughed and wondered, as the ventriloquist tried the powers which had done such effective service that day.

'I do believe that boy saved my life, Lowly. Depend on't, the Lord sent him!' and grandma, concluding her story with a long drawn breath, sat down on the door step and was immediately engaged in an eager talk with old Mrs. Atkins.

It was many hours before the quiet settled down upon the inmates of the little farm house; but before they settled for the night Father Granger and his wife learned all that was needful to know of Jasper Goodrich's former life.

'The only reason I haven't told you,' said the boy, in reply to the farmer's question, 'is because I was afraid you would send me back. It might as well come out, though—I have run away, but I'll never go back to Uncle George's—I'll die first!'

It was a short story. Until he was several years old he knew only a happy life. Then his father's health failing and a sea voyage being decided upon, his father and mother sailed for France, leaving him in care of the village minister and wife. In six months came the news of his father's death, and some weeks later his mother, too, died, and was buried in a foreign land. The boy remained with his friends a few months only, for on the minister's removal to another town he was taken possession of by a half brother of his father's, a rascally, unprincipled man, who had no love or kind feeling for his young nephew. He was shamefully treated till he could endure it no longer, and he determined to seek a home among strangers.

'I wanted to stay,' the boy concluded, 'but I didn't dare to tell you for fear you would send me back—'

'Never, my boy!' interrupted the farmer, earnestly. 'You can stay with us till you find a better home; we'll do all we can for you.'

'Well,' said Mrs. Granger, as she lay down that night, 'the idea of my distrusting that boy! I declare it makes me feel mean to think of it.'

Early the next morning the farmer harnessed Old Billy, and dressed in his Sunday best took the East road over the 'mountain.' He returned late in the afternoon.

The announcement made at the tea table was startling to at least one hearer.

'I have seen your uncle, Jasper!'

The boy's face paled, but the farmer's next words were reassuring.

'He was inclined at first to be a little ugly, but after I'd had my say he cooled down a trifle, and I fancy he won't give you any further trouble. You can stay here just as long as you please.'

'I knew there was nothing wrong about that boy,' said grandma, with a triumphant nod toward the radiant Jasper. 'Depend on it, Lowly, the Lord sent him.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Bishop Bowman at the New York conference of the Methodist church gave some rather notable advice to several young men who are about to be admitted to the ministry. He told them to look out for women—that is, not to succumb to the multifarious fascinations of the sex, which so much disturbs the peace of mind of this world. He informed them that the women looked up to them with reverence, not because of their being men of of ability or address, but because of their being disciples of Christ. He solemnly told them never to take advantage of their position. There was a place of eternal torment, and it was far to good for a minister who would betray the confidence reposed in him. Bishop Bowman seems to know what he is talking about; he has heard of the deplorable plight into which so many ministers have fallen of late through the waywardness of lips. The fact that such advice should seem necessary may reasonably call for the most solemn reflections.—Phila. Times.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

Friday, April 23, 1880.

The Commonwealth of last week includes Columbia county in the list of counties which it says are for Tilden. It also prints a dispatch dated Bloomsburg, April 14th, which reads as follows:

The Columbia County Democratic Committee met here today and elected John M Clark, Esq., and Colonel John G. Freeze, representative delegates to the Democratic State Convention. Both gentlemen are friends of Speaker Randall. Mr. Clark is the gentleman whom Senator Wallace declined to have confirmed as Census Supervisor in this district. The feeling here against Wallace's alliance with Cameron is most bitter. The Democrats of Columbia speak in no uncertain terms about the wily Senators tricks and are prepared to teach him a severe lesson.

From these two things one would naturally be led to suppose that the democrats of this county had instructed their delegates for Tilden, and that the meeting of the committee and the election of delegates was only for the purpose of giving Wallace a slap in the face. In the first place the delegates are uninstructed and in the second place they are not for Tilden, and even if they should vote for him, we are satisfied from all that we can learn by expression of sentiment from the different portions of the county that he is not the choice of a large majority of our party. Col. Freeze is and has been an outspoken friend of Gen. Hancock's, and will no doubt vote for him, as we believe will Mr. Clark. The election of this latter gentleman as a delegate shows that the democracy here have confidence in him, and was perhaps intended as a rebuke to Wallace for not allowing his confirmation as Census Supervisor, but it has nothing to do with the Wallace—Randall fight. Our people are pretty generally of the opinion that State Conventions are held for the good of the party and not for the purpose of simply ascertaining which of these leaders have the most strength in the state. We join with many of our contemporaries in the demand that this personal contention be ended, and that the party good be made the party aim. If this cannot be done with such leaders as Wallace and Randall, the sooner the party find other Captains the better it will be for it. Columbia county is neither for Randall nor Wallace, but for the party.

The Democrats of New York held two State conventions on the 20th. All who intended supporting the Democratic nominee for President were invited to participate in the regular convention. All the necessary preliminaries to an organization were smoothly gone through with, several little speeches made in which the great fraud of 1876 was alluded to, and the mention of Tilden's name was received with rounds of applause. About three fourths of the delegates were straight Tilden men. A resolution that the delegates be instructed that it is desirable to continue the two-thirds rule in the National Convention was adopted. Delegates were not instructed. The anti-Tilden Convention, conducted by Kelly, protested against the nomination of Tilden. A committee was appointed by them to propose harmony, and a communication to that effect was forwarded to the regular convention. In response to which, the committee on resolutions reported the following:

Resolved, That the president of this convention be requested to reply to the communication received, signed by John B. Hoskins, and assure him that this convention reciprocates every expression of a desire for the union of the Democratic party, and are persuaded that the deliberative wisdom of the National Convention will result in such action as will secure the triumph of the Democratic party in New York and in the Union in the ensuing presidential election. Adopted unanimously.

ANECDOTE OF GEN. LAMAR.

BLOOMSBURG, PA., April 19, 1880.

EDS. COLUMBIAN:

The recent discussion of Count Ferdinand de Lessep's interoceanic canal project recalls to my mind an anecdote of Gen. Mirabeau B. Lamar, the Texan patriot, which you may deem worth printing. I may here remark that Gen. Lamar was one of the Texan leaders when that State declared its independence of Mexico. He was Attorney-General of the Republic, Secretary of War, the first Vice President, second President, and took a prominent part in the Mexican war. He was also the author of a volume of poems.

In the summer of 1859, while returning home from Panama, I made his acquaintance, and that of his secretary. He never tired of relating anecdotes about the early struggles of the "Lone Star" State. He was very partial to "fillibur" Walker's schemes, and his Secretary had served under that man of "manifest destiny."

But to the point: The French and English, it would seem, with Monsieur Belly at their head, by some chicanery, got the contract from Costa Rica and Nicaragua to build an interoceanic ship canal. As Gen. Lamar was an ardent believer in the Monroe doctrine, he became intensely indignant. At the time I speak of he was U. S. Minister to those countries. The Prince de Polignac was secretary to Monsieur Belly, and Sir William Gore Ousley was the British Envoy. The Prince, in making his first call to Sir William, was misdirected by a native, who supposed he wished to see Gen. Lamar. Arriving at the U. S. Legation, the secretary introduced himself as the Prince of Polignac. Not understanding French, the General got the name as "Prince of Cognac." As the Prince commenced talking in French, Lamar got impatient, and angrily demanded, "Who are you?" The smiles and smirks disappeared from the Frenchman's face, and seeing that he had made a mistake, he commenced beating a hasty retreat. The irate General then commanded him to stop, but fearing to do so, "Cognac" broke into a run, followed by Lamar, who, finding he could not catch the fugitive, commenced stoning him. This only increased the latter's speed, and he finally reached his hotel, amidst the jeers of the crowd.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D C. April 20th. 1880.

There was an animated debate in the Senate yesterday over the Geneva award bill. Of the four propositions for the disposal of the ten millions remaining of this award, Mr. Thurman is the champion of one, Mr. Blaine of another and Mr. Eaton of another. The fourth, to return the money to Great Britain—has not taken the form of a bill as yet. The wonderful readiness of Mr. Blaine, and his large and accurate knowledge of affairs, were strikingly shown in yesterday's debate. In many respects he showed himself the superior of Mr. Carpenter, while in some the Wisconsin Senator was more than a match for him. If Senators—or people generally—could believe for a moment that there was a decent degree of sincerity in the man from Maine, he would have a great deal more influence than he now possesses. The contrast between his present rather friendless condition in the Senate and the almost despotic power he wielded in the House four years ago, is something to wonder at. But then he was not a presidential candidate, and now all are jealous, are "down on him" because he is.

The Grant movement, it is plain, has not all the force which its originators claimed for it. The friends of Mr. Blaine, uniting with other enemies of the General and opponents of a third term, believe that there is a strong hope of preventing Grant's nomination on the first ballot. But the above is the talk only of his enemies, and they will perhaps be cured of that—I may say—delusion. Meantime, there is a comfort for Democrats in the policy of anti-Grant men, for every argument against a nomination is stronger still against an election. Who shall be put in nomination against Grant? If he is nominated—it is not likely we shall know so long before the Convention as in the case of the Republicans, but there is no harm in expressing preferences.

An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday to suspend the rules and pass the bill pensioning soldiers of the Mexican War. It is a singular fact that so much oppsition to this bill comes from Maine. A year ago Mr. Powers and this year Mr. Frye helped to prevent its passage. Yet if I am not mistaken, the citizens of Maine profited more by a bloodless march of her citizens into Aroostook county in 1839 than the whole cost would be of pensioning these Mexican veterans.

The House yesterday passed the Senate bill giving government recognition to the proposed celebration at New York in 1883, after the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

HILTON.

Gen. Hancock as a Candidate.

The New York Tribune ventures the remark that, if the Pennsylvania Democrats are able to send a Hancock delegation to the Cincinnati Convention, the General will at once become a formidable candidate. If his own State, remarks the Tribune, is solid behind him, he will be likely to gather recruits from all other quarters. And then the Tribune goes on to say that his sudden development as a probable candidate is one more evidence of the revivifying effect which the prospect of a third term has upon the Democratic party. The Tribune is an uncompromising opponent of Gen. Grant's pretensions to the Republican nomination, and it is disposed to attribute all symptoms of gathering strength in the Democratic party to the influence of a third term movement. But this is by no means what gives Gen. Hancock his great strength. It is very true that his candidacy would give peculiar point to the opposition to Gen. Grant. It would be the candidacy of the exponent of the idea of the supremacy of the civil law, and of the maintenance of a constitutional Union with a Government of specified and limited powers, in opposition to the candidacy of the exponent of the idea of military supremacy, personal government, and a consolidated nationality with a government released from the fetters of constitutional limitations. But Gen. Hancock, on these points would equally antagonize any Republican candidate, because any Republican candidate must represent the purposes which the Republican party have in view, and the ideas by which that organization is now governed. The issue has been broadly presented to the country by the outspoken declarations of the Republican leaders; by the Republican journals, and by the partisan decisions of the Supreme Court.

It cannot be averted. The Republicans are determined to press it: the Democrats are ready to accept it. It will constitute the main issue of the contest of 1880, whether Gen. Grant or any other man shall be the Republican candidate. As we have already shown, Gen. Hancock is a man who can combine in one harmonious body of support all the elements of political opinion which differing as they may, on other points are agreed on this one. It is impossible to assume that is true of any other prominent Democrat. Recent developments show that Democrats throughout the country are rapidly coming to an appreciation of this truth.

The crushing defeat of Mr. Tilden's scheme to control the Pennsylvania convention is peculiarly significant, because it was not only a defeat of the supporters of Tilden, but it was a triumph of the supporters of Hancock. The result is, by some of the newspapers, regarded as victory of Senator Wallace over Speaker Randall; but it has a much wider meaning than this. Its meaning is that Randall is weak, because his candidate is weak, and Wallace is strong because his candidate is strong. There can be little doubt now that Pennsylvania will elect a full Hancock delegation—a result which cannot fail to have an immense influence on the country. The vote of New York for Tilden would be recognized as only the voice of a political machine, the fact remaining that Mr. Tilden cannot carry the State, although it is thoroughly Democratic. The vote of Pennsylvania for Hancock would be recognized as the voice of the party, giving expression to its preference for a candidate who, in all probability, could carry the State, although it is regarded as essentially Republican. Louisiana, also will in all probability choose a Hancock delegation. So, probably, will Mississipi, and Texas, and Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama. Indeed it is hard to conceive why the Democracy of any Southern State should hold aloof from Gen Hancock. Hence the Tribune is right when it says that Gen. Hancock is fast becoming a formidable candidate. He is formidable not only to his Democratic competitors, but the Republican party, who see in him a man against whom their favorite weapons would be powerless and their chosen ammunition be wasted.—New Orleans Picayune.

No use of Denying it.

It is of no use for the Republican party to deny that they are in favor of an empire. Their disavowal would be entitled to no credit. The recent history of this party shows that its leaders are ready to avow any political faith in the pursuit of office.

Four years ago they passed resolutions of unalterable opposition to a third term. Now they are just as unalterably in favor of a third term.

Reasoning from analogy, the stronger they now profess to be opposed to an empire the more strongly may we expect to see them advocate the establishment of an empire four years hence.

The Republican party was a good enough war party; but as a peace party it has descended to the lowest political depths.

It is a party which has so falsified its own words as to be utterly unworthy of further trust.—N. Y. Sun.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

Testimonials are received every day by the proprietors of SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR, from persons of education and prominence from all parts of the country attesting to the wonderful curative properties of this great medicine. No other preparation but the Regulator has ever been discovered that would effectually cure Dyspepsia and its kindred evils, and restore the patient to a perfectly healthy condition of body and mind. The rapidly increasing demand for this medicine and our large sales in consequence, is indeed sufficient evidence in itself of its great popularity.

Perfectly IT HAS NO EQUAL. Harmless.

It can be used any time without fear by the most delicate persons. No matter what the ailing, and may be given to children with perfect safety, as no bad results follow its use, doing no possible injury. As a mild Tonic, gentle Laxative and harmless Invigorant it is infinitely superior to any known remedy for

Malarious Fever, Bowel Complaints, Jaundice, Colic, Restlessness, Mental Depression, Sick Headache, Constipation, Nausea, Biliousness, DYSPEPSIA, &c.

Read the following names of persons well and widely known, who testify to the valuable properties of Simmons Liver Regulator or Medicine. Hon. Alex. H. Stevens; John W. Beckwith, Bishop of Georgia; Gen. John B. Gordon, U. S. Senator; Hon. John Gill Shorter; Rt. Rev. Bishop Pierce; J. Edgar Thompson; Hon. B. Hill; Hon. John C. Breckinridge; Prof. David Wills; D. D.; Hiram Warner, Chief Justice of Ga.; Lewis Wunder, Assist. P. M. Phila. and many others from whom we have letters commenting upon this medicine as a most valuable household remedy. PURELY VEGETABLE.

Its low price places it in the reach of all be they rich or poor. If you are suffering and cannot find relief, procure at once from your Druggist a bottle of Regulator. Give it a fair trial and it will not only afford relief, but permanently cure you. It is without a single exception.

The Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the world.

TREASURER'S SALE OF UNSEATED LANDS IN COLUMBIA COUNTY, PENN'A.

By virtue of sundry acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, relating to the sale of seated and unseated lands in the county of Columbia, etc., for taxes due and unpaid, I will offer at public sale at the Court House, in the town of Bloomsburg, on the

SECOND MONDAY OF JUNE, A. D, 1880

at 10 o'clock a. m., the following described pieces of land, or such part thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount of taxes due and unpaid against the same, and continue the same from day to day as the same may be found necessary.

TERMS OF SALE.

The amount of taxes and costs must be paid when the land is struck off, or the sale may be void and the property put up and resold.

THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1880

Go see "Our Candidate" to-night.

Plenty of good fresh shad in the market.

Spring styles of Hats and Bonnets at Misses Everett and Gress.

The men working at the water works are paid cash every Friday.

Frank Unangst is lying dangerously ill at the residence of his father, Philip Unangst.

"Our Candidate" to-night, at the Opera House.

Charles Krug is repairing the planing mill preparatory to working it.

D. A. Cressy has erected a new awning in front of his store.

S. H. Miller & Son have been making additions and improvements in their store.

H. B. Clark is now in New York city purchasing goods. Look out for something nice on his return.

W. H. Smith, editor of that sprightly little daily, the Milton Argus, was in town on Monday.

The Buckalew brothers have had their sprinkler repaired and repainted. It is now in first class trim for its summer "heat."

The new string band, under the skillful instructions of Thomas Metherell, is making splendid progress.

Baird's Minstrels played here, Monday night, to a fair house. The entire performance was excellent. We hope they will soon return.

Three persons were confirmed by Bishop Howe at St. John's church, Catawissa, last Sunday morning.

Jerome Woodring left last Friday, for Johnstown, where he has secured employment in a store.

C. C. Galignan advertises in this issue. He is a first-class mechanic and all persons wanting anything in his line will do well to call on him.

T. W. Conner has enlarged his store by taking out the partition and throwing the room used by E. Mendenhall as an office, into the store room. He has also added to his stock.

Go to Snyder and get your Photographs, new rooms, better facilities and a guarantee for first class work. Rooms in Clark's building.

The commissions for the newly elected Justices of the Peace have been received at the Recorder's office for delivery on the first Monday of May.

The attempt at a facetious report of the proceedings of the Democratic Standing Committee, in the Republican of last week, was a failure. It lacked two essential points; wit and accuracy.

NOTICE.—In order to reduce my immense stock of boots and shoes, I will sell for 60 days at cost. Come one and all and secure great bargains at Gross' N. Y. Store, two doors above City Hotel.

There will be a meeting of the Stockholders of the State Normal School on Monday, May 3rd, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the office of F. P. Billmeyer, Esq., Secretary, to elect four persons to serve as trustees for the stockholders for three years, and also to name four persons to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, from which to select two to serve for three years on the part of the State.

A very large congregation attended the service at the Episcopal church on Sunday evening. A class of eighteen persons were confirmed by Bishop Howe. A very able discourse was delivered by the Bishop, on the doctrines and customs of the church. Rev. Mr. Fessenden, of Catawissa, assisted the Rector in the services.

No one who appreciates fine acting should fail to attend the performance of "Our Candidate," to-night. The play and troupe are first class, and it is only through the energy of the managers of the Opera house, that they have been induced to show in a town so small. Turn out and give them a full house.

At the special meeting of the Council, the committee on the park reported that G. W. Sterner desired to lease the park ground for three years, and that he was willing to pay $20 for the first year, $25 for the second, and $30 for the third, and keep the fencing in as good repair as at present. The report was accepted and the committee instructed to enter into an agreement with Sterner. A permit was granted Knorr & Wintersteen to erect a building on the corner of Seventh street and Strawberry alley. On motion adjourned.

There are a certain lot of men in this town, who are chronically opposed to every improvement. They were opposed to the incorporation of the town, but as soon as the law was passed, they were the first ones to step forward and signify their willingness to hold office under the town laws. They were opposed to the Gas works, but when these were completed this same set of men were the first to ask for lamp posts in front of their houses, to be paid for by the town. They are now opposed to the Water works, but as soon as water is put into the town these persons will all be demanding fire plugs in their immediate vicinities. They ought to have them by all means. Such enterprise deserves a reward.

The Danville and Shamokin Railroad, under contemplation, is being pushed forward by the interested parties. We are informed that some of the parties, who are most actively interested in the building of this new link, have been investigating the Roaringcreek route, and the indications now seem to be that this route will be adopted. From our own knowledge of the surface of the country, we think this is a wise conclusion; beside, this route will tap the Bear Gap coal, which is said to be the best domestic coal in this section, and will be within easy access to Danville and other points. It will give Danville consumers of coal better facilities and probably at cheaper rates.—Danville Record.

LOCKARD'S CAR SHOPS.

Through the courtesy of Lockard Brothers, we were shown through their establishment on Saturday last. We were aware that their shops were run on an extensive scale, but had no idea of the amount of work done there until we made a personal inspection. There is a blacksmith shop, machine shop, foundry, planing mill, pattern shop, paint shop and lumber yard, all of which are now busily engaged in the contract for one hundred oil cars for the New Jersey Central railroad. As soon as this is done they will begin on an order for two hundred gondola cars for the Boston and Hoosac tunnel road. Four cars are completed every day, and to do this about one hundred men are employed. Eight thousand feet of lumber and nine tons of iron are used per day. Lockard Brothers have a large amount of expensive machinery and are still adding to it.

Such an establishment as this is a blessing to any community. It is only to be regretted that there are not more such in this town. They afford employment to laboring men, bring strangers here and add greatly to the prosperity of the town. It is to be hoped that after the completion of the water works, capitalists at home or from abroad will start other manufacturing establishments here. There is no better point in the State.

Charles Rice returned from Philadelphia on Monday, where he was attending his father's funeral.

Go see "Our Candidate" to-night.

Largest and finest assortment of cards and card type in the county, at this office. Ladies' and gentlemens' calling cards a specialty. See our samples at Clark's Book Store.

All the latest styles of Hats and Bonnets trimmed to suit at Misses Everett and Gress.

The Town Council held a special meeting on Tuesday evening and ordered an injunction to be asked for, restraining the Water company from proceeding to lay pipes unless they leave the surface of the street just as they found it. We do not know much about such matters, but would suppose that if the earth were packed down, the first rain would settle it below the surface and leave a depression to be filled up. The gas pipes were put down in the same manner, and there were no ridges in the streets after a few rains.

Who are the tax-payers that requested this action on the part of the Council?

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old adage which cannot fail of verification in case of your attendance at the Opera House, this (Friday evening). The Comedy, "Our Candidate," has received the highest encomiums of the press wherever it has been produced.

STILLWATER NEWS

Heavy rain and thunder storm Friday evening.

Lord's day was a very pleasant one, and there was a good attendance at church.

The Stillwater Singing Class gave an exhibition at the school house on Saturday evening. We learn it was a very pleasant and enjoyable affair, though the attendance was small.

Mr. J. F. McHenry is in the city this week, purchasing his spring stock of goods. "Cheap Joe," as he is familiarly called, is doing a good business here—Mr. James Stoker, his clerk, is a very gentlemanly and clever fellow, and we are sorry to say that his only child is now dangerously ill.

The largest trout of the season is now on the writer's table, and wife says if I want eat it warm, I must come—so au revoir.

D. M. KINTER.

The best material only used in producing Photographs at Snyder's Gallery. First-class work at very reasonable prices.

WHAT OTHERS THINK OF THEM.

Rollins, Holmes & Schuyler, of Bloomsburg, Pa., the firm who contracted for the putting in of the steam heating apparatus, gas fitting, and the entire plumbing of the court house, have completed their work and turned it over to the commissioners. It has all been done by skilled workmen and is a first-class job in every respect. Special care has been used in the plumbing, and every possible precaution has been taken to prevent the escape of sewer gas into the building, and thus jeopardize the health of the county officials. They have also scientifically remodeled the plumbing in a large number of private dwellings in town, to the entire satisfaction of the patrons. The above firm are extensive contractors for the warming and ventilating of dwellings, stores and public buildings by steam. Having their works located in a town where rents and wages are low, in comparison with the large cities, they are prepared to make remarkably low estimates, and guarantee satisfaction. The boiler they use has no superior, being non-explosive and automatic, requiring no more attention than an ordinary stove and but a small amount of water. The heat produced by it is most healthy, an even temperature is kept by it without any difficulty, and it is absolutely free from dust and coal gas. An unusually large number of people and officials testify to the excellence of the work of Rollins, Holmes & Schuyler.—Honesdale Citizen.

"Our Candidate" should receive the hearty and united support of all our people, irrespective of age, sex, or party.

James Barckle and Hattie Graul were married, Thursday morning, by Rev. O. D. S. Marclay, in the Lutheran church.

B. F. Fruit and W. H. Jacoby went to Sullivan county, Thursday.

LAST NOTICE.—All persons indebted to the estate of Peter Ent, deceased, and to Ent Brothers are hereby notified that these accounts must be paid by May 1st or costs will be incurred. Call at my office at Bloomsburg.

March 5-tf. U. H. ENT, Adm.

Mr. William Watts, formerly of this place who had come up from Danville, on Wednesday, to obtain some medicine for the disease with which he was afflicted suddenly dropped dead about half past 11 o'clock on Thursday morning. Dropsy was the cause of his death. He will be buried at Danville on Sunday with the Honors of War.

Comrades of Ent Post, 252, G. A. R., are requested to meet at their hall, this Friday evening, April 23, at half past seven o'clock, as business of importance is to be transacted.

BERWICK LETTER.

EDS. COLUMBIAN:

Mr. G. R. Crispin, of the firm of Bowman & Crispin, merchants, has been in Philadelphia the past few days buying goods. Mr. H. Bower, also a merchant, left on Monday for the same place for a like purpose. He is accompanied by his daughter Minnie.

Mr. Williams does not sell any liquor, but is not debarred from entertaining the public otherwise. He keeps a bear chained in the hotel yard, whose antics afford a great deal of amusement to the many spectators that daily congregate on the scene.

The pupils of the high school, accompanied by their teacher, W. E. Smith, have lately indulged in five mile walks, after school, out into the woods in quest of Trailing Arbutus. If this were daily practiced by our town schools, we would have healthier and longer-lived men and women. All our schools should devote some time to athletic exercises.

At the Literary last week, Woman's Suffrage was discussed by F. Stewart, N. Stiles, Isaiah Bower, Dr. Hill and Andrew Freas. The audience extracted considerable amusement from the remarks of Stewart and Hill, the former championed the fair sex with an effusion of poetry and earnest encomiums, the latter opposed the measure with all the vindictive satire that he could command. The other speakers went to neither extremes, speaking none the less forcibly. Two of the judges, being unmarried men, dared give a decision based on a comparison of the argument, which was adverse to the affirmative. The other judge was Dr Freas. His estimable lady takes a lively interest in the Literary proceedings.

The "Party" rage had not yet subsided last week, Mr. M. W. Jackson and lady had open doors for a large number of invited guests on Wednesday evening. The ladies were tastily dressed, some quite handsomely, making a bright throng in the gaslight. The games were merry, particularly the acting charade which afforded infinite amusement. Refreshments which consisted of different varieties of ice cream, ices, cakes, fruit, confectionery, etc., were partaken of in the course of the evening. A similar affair occurred at the house of Mr. McHenry on Friday evening. Refreshments, amusements and all were a counterpart of the above. All the guests enjoyed themselves hugely, wholly forgetful of time.

A CORRECTION.

EDS. COLUMBIAN—Dear Sirs: I noticed in the Stillwater items of the 16th inst., that Mrs. Benjamin Pealer, who for many months lay under the care and treatment of a physician and grew worse all the time had discharged her physician, abandoned drugs, and was now under the home treatment and careful nursing of her mother-in-law, out of danger.

Now the Rev. Scribe has either been misinformed, not informed at all in regard to this case or he has wilfully departed from the truth in the statements he has made. Mrs. Benjamin Pealer's physician has not been discharged, neither has she abandoned the use of drugs, but is taking them regularly, and her physician has seen her regularly since her first sickness. It is true that a great deal of praise is due Mrs. John Pealer for her care and devotion to this afflicted one (for without this care thousands have died who might have recovered) and her recovery thus far is in great measure due to the nursing of kind friends and the maternal care of Mrs. Pealer, but as to the balance contained in that article, it is utterly false.

Orangeville, April 19 '80

A purely vegetable medicine, containing all the virtues of calomel without any of the injurious tendencies so justly dreaded by Simmon's Liver Regulator will be found prompt to start the secretion of the liver, and give a healthy tone to the entire system, without salivation or any injurious effects. When used as a cathartic, it in no wise disorders the system, nor does it produce any nausea or sick stomach when about to purge. It is so mild in its action as not to interfere with business or pleasure.

Recalled to Life.

Pesth, April 17.—A most extraordinary case of resuscitation is reported to have taken place at Raab on the 14th inst. Raab is about sixty seven miles from this city and was formerly a fortified city. It is built on the river of the same name and is a place of commercial importance. The story that comes from there reads more like one of the grim contes drolatiques of Balzac than an occurrence of the present day. A young convict named Takas, who had murdered two women, was hanged. He was about 23 years of age. After the body was cut down and examined by the physicians life was pronounced extinct. As a scientific experiment the body was subjected to an electro-galvanic current, and after a few hours signs of life were perceptible. The resuscitated convict completely recovered the use of his senses, and his first actions were of violence toward the prison officials by whom he was surrounded. He soon began to suffer from congestion of the brain and became delirious during the night. He made repeated attacks upon the keepers and complained of violent pains asking from time to time for milk and water. Death released him finally from his sufferings on Tuesday morning. The entire medical faculty in this city is considerably excercised over the case.

A Building Association Case.

The Supreme Court has rendered a decision in the case of O'Rourke vs the West Penn Loan and Building Association, holding that where a building association has declared that the stock of a certain series has reached its full value of $200, but which cannot be paid owing to some of the money being invested in real estate which cannot be realized on, that a stockholder cannot bring an action at law for the matured value of stock, but must, where there is anything wrong done him, bring a bill in equity. O'Rourke owned ten shares in the West Penn Building Association. About the latter part of February, 1878, the tenth annual report was issued, which put the first series at $204 38, but, as a considerable part of the assets was in real estate, it would not have been possible to pay the first series shareholders unless the real estate could be converted into cash. This could not be done without a sacrifice, which the association refused to do. O'Rourke brought an action for the matured value of his ten shares. He was non-suited, and Judge Yerkes refused to take the non-suit off, saying: "We cannot see that building associations are exceptions to the general law governing corporations; that a shareholder cannot sue at law as a shareholder. It follows that if he wishes to participate in all of the profits of the association he must wait until the corporation winds up the series to which he belongs. Of course, there may be cases where he may invoke the aid of a court of equity." The Supreme Court affirms this judgment.

It should be the aim of every owner of Horses, Cows, &c., to make them as handsome and useful as possible. The German Horse and Cow Powder helps to develop all the powers of the animal. It improves its beauty and increases its usefulness. It makes milk, mucle and fat. By using it a horse will do more work and a cow give more milk and be in better condition with less feed. SPRING FASHION.

SCENES AT STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER'S SPRING OPENING.

Tuesday was announced as the opening of the season in ready made dresses, mantles and ladies' outside garments generally at Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's. Although the day opened with clouds and threatenings of rain, early in the forenoon Eighth street near Market was alive with ladies on their way to inspect the new spring styles. Passing in with the throng, we found ourselves in the midst of a brilliant scene. The spacious sales-room was arranged for the occasion with a display of tasteful garments, which could no fail to attract the attention and excite the interest of every lady.

The apartment was so well lighted that the effect of the numerous and varied costumes was most brilliant. Placed on stands, on elevated platforms, every detail of each particular suit of dress was opened to inspection, and thus revealed the exquisite and artistic skill of the modiste.

One feature which particularly impressed us was that while numbers of the garments were rich and beautiful in the extreme, and the general effect very striking, the prices were most moderate.

Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier have been particularly fortunate in hitting the key-note of Philadelphia taste the epithets elegant and appropriate being singularly applicable to all of their styles. Illustrative of this was a dress of olive-green silk and satin brocade of the sample shade. The skirt was artistically draped with the silk laid in folds diagonally across the front breadths and falling in sash ends behind, which were again caught up in graceful and bouffant loops. At the limit of the skirt there appeared a suspicion of scarlet knife blade pleating. The basque was in the tourist shape, and finished with cameo buttons, each representing a different figure.

A beautiful dress was of velvet striped grenadine. The basque was finished with long skirts or troupelands and heavily trimmed with a rich jet fringe. The underskirt was peculiar from a wide band of shirred satin which adorned it.

Amid the surtout styles one very noticable was of ecru corduroy over a skirt of satin novelty, ornamented in front with the new and fashionable tassels, called "pokes," or "spikes."

An imported dress of new Momie cloth was striking; the trimming was formed of intermixed white and blue silk bands.

A stylish custome was made of variegated Momie cloth and ecrue bunting, adorned with large pearl buttons.

MUSLIN AND GRENADINE DRESSES.

appeared in great variety. A lovely combination was of Satine and Yeddo cloths, trimmed with Mechlin lace. Of a delicate pink, this custome was both beautiful and servicable.

A dress of Indian muslin, interspersed with Breton lace and puffings, was truly beautiful, and one of linen de India, beautifully and profusly trimmed with Languedoc lace was greatly admired.

A charming custome of silk and grenadine, of the shape of ashes of rose, was relieved by alternate ruffles and puffings of the two materials.

One of the most admirable customes displayed was composed of gens de' arme brocade satin, slightly intermixed with silk of the same shade and draped with great elegance. Around the neck appeared a collar of the new and fashionable tint known as cashmere passementerie, a mixture of gold and iridescent beads.

A suprising and beautiful novelty was a robe of delicate drab trimmed with blue satin. This satin was embroidered with palm leaf designs, and was thoroughly Oriental in its splendor.

Time scarcely sufficed to inspect all the elegant and becoming customes displayed and still remained to be examined. No house in Philadelphia has ever shown so great and beautiful a variety of lovely suits for children as were on exhibition at Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's on the occasion. Indeed though the house makes a speciality of such attire, it may fairly be said to have outdone itself this season.

THE CHILDRENS AND MISSES DRESSES

An admirable plan has been adopted of grading the various styles of dresses in sizes according to the ages of the wearers. Thus a tourist suit for Misses from 12 to 16 years of age serves as a description of what may be obtained for young girls. The tourist was a [illegible] of ecrue Momie cloth over a blue silk skirt. [illegible] of touch all the details of this custome were worked out, its exquisite finish being greatly admired.

A Lucia polonaise of blue bronze and old gold novelty over a skirt of solid blue silk was a style adapted for misses aged from 10 to 16 years.

Still prettier was a custome for a child of 8. It was composed of coachman's drab Momie cloth, interspersed with silk and satin novelty in delicate shades of light blue and pink. This rich material was applied to the overdress with great effect, while the skirt was finished with three ruffles.

Another charming little girls dress was of pink cashmere and brocade satin combination, trimmed with Languedoc lace.

One of the most beautiful costumes shown was a coachman's design of drab Momie cloth. The front of the bodice was of scarlet satin, which extended as far as bretel side duche's lace, the limit of the skirt being defined by a narrow knife-blade plaiting of scarlet satin, while the whole was trimmed with duchess lace.

A child's imported suit was of light blue imperial bunting, with overdress of silk novelty in blue and gold. Special mention should be made of a cunning little suit of blue silk in combination with silk novelty for a child of five.

CHILDREN'S LACE DRESSES.

were shown in numerous styles. Among the most admired of these were the slips of Languedoc lace, with the ruffles of the same worn over light blue or pink silk underdresses. There were dresses of linen de India, richly trimmed with lace, and muslin dresses so richly trimmed with lace and puffings that the absence of color was quite forgotten in this rich effect.

A decided novelty for little children was the combination suit, representing a silk corded and lace or muslin embroidered underdress. These dainty little garments were in some cases slashed and laced at the sides with contrasting silk cords and tassels. They appeared in various shades and colors, some being of ecru or coachman's drab others in dark blue. One of the latter was made very effective by a border of silk plaid novelty.

A princess dress for a child, of pearl-colored Momie cloth, had a double plaited skirt with shirred drapery, while ribbon bows of a new plaid pattern adorned the waist, sleeves and skirt.

Coats for children were very beautiful. These were shown in great variety of styles, and being of light cloth and adorned with cords and tassels and handsome buttons, were quite jaunty.

INFANT'S WARDROBES

showed a great increase in elegance and variety. Robes and dresses, richly embroidered and magnificent cloaks attracted special attention. One very lovely cloak for an infant of very large size, of white cashmere, heavily embroidered in silk. It was lined throughout with silk and beautifully finished with silk fringe.

LADIES WRAPS AND MANTLES

almost formed a display by themselves, ranging in prices as hight as eighty and ninety dollars each. One specially beautiful style is known as the shawl shape. It is pointed at the back, and while it covers it does not impede the free use of the arms. It was made of Satin de Lyons and trimmed with a rich passementerie of jet and heavy silk fringe. Another, of the dolman shape somewhat modified, had an elegant fringe of jet with a black lace fichue at the neck.

A superb mantle of black satin de Lyons was trimmed with cashmere passementerie and lined throughout with old gold colored silk. Another still richer had a trimming and colors of cashmere passementerie and was lined with black silk. Mantles were shown in a variety of styles and eagerly saught after by the ladies.

All the materials used in the dresses and mantles which appeared at the opening are to be bought at Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier's, whose dress and cloak-making departments are constantly kept busy reduplicating orders. The great conveinence of finding dress goods, trimmings and styles in one establishment is every year growing more and more popular, and this immense bazar in its spring opening affords an opportunity to ladies to make judicious selections.

The aspect of opening is always inspiring, but on this occasion it was undoubtedly so, owing to the concourse of elegantly attired ladies who thronged the salesrooms. All were interested in this first glimpse of the coming fashions, and even those who had no children to clothe paused to admire the beautiful array of little dresses which looked like a garden of flowers.

We omitted to mention.

THE ROMP SUIT FOR 1880

A novelty displayed for different ages which will be quite a boon to the young folks. It is made of some neutral tints of enduring material, such as Momie cloth crape, camel's hair or summer shoods, sits loosely to the figure and has a handsomely cut skirt. The application of colored silk cordings and elegant silk plad ribbon bows renders it exceedingly stylish.

The suits shown at the opening, though not generally of foreign importation, show all the beautiful effects commonly accredited to French taste. They are reasonable in price and adapted to all the requirements of fashionable life. Dinner, promenade and carriage dresses appear in great variety, as do tourists' costumes, home and sea side dresses. Wraps, coats, mantles, ect., make a large display. Indeed only a visit to this establishment can give a just idea of all the lovely and desirable garments on exhibition.

Philadelphia Press, April 7.

We are informed that after the above article was put into print the crowds of the afternoon and next day (Wednesday) exceeded all precedent and obliged the firm to continue the display one day longer than was intended in order to accomodate many friends of the house.

Such an auspicious opening indicates that the business of the season must be in proportion, but we understand that the firm's resources and arrangements are in proportion to any demand likely to be made upon them.

Grateful Women

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these bitters.

CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have practised medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do). I tried —— and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.,
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son., Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.
MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 200 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names cannot be recalled by the best-informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

THE GREAT MEXICAN REMEDY.

Thousands suffering from Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Scrofula and kindred diseases, will hail with delight this new and wonderful discovery, which as a disease conqueror and health restorer, has no equal in modern medicine. The Great Mexican Remedy was first introduced into California in 1879, where in a few months it effected so many wonderful cures as to create a demand for the medicine from Maine to Florida. It is the only medicine in the world compounded from the native plants, roots and herbs of Mexico. It cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula, to a common blotch, pimple, or eruption, while it clears and beautifies the complexion. In diseases of the Stomach, Blood, Liver and Kidneys, it has permanently cured thousands of hopeless cases where all other known remedies had failed. One dose will cure any case of Sick Headache. Two doses will break up any ordinary cough or cold. Persons suffering with Heartburn, Waterbrash, Sour Stomach, Billiousness, Costiveness, Piles, Palpitation of the Heart, Low Spirits, and kindred affections, will find the Mexican remedy a swift and sure relief. The genuine is placed before the public under the following name:

Herbaline Bitters the Great Mexican Remedy.

Call on your druggist and get a bottle of the Mexican Remedy, and convince yourself that it is the Best Medicine in the World.

Diseases of the Stomach.

Eaton, Wyoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I had a Weak Stomach and could eat no meat or any hearty food whatever. By a friend's advice I commenced the use of your Indian Blood Syrup, which after a short trial, effectually relieved me and I can now eat anything I choose. Your Syrup gives universal satisfaction.
Elizabeth Hadsall.

All that it is recommended to be.

Opera House, Columbia, Pa.
Dear Sir:—I have used your excellent Indian Blood Syrup and it has proven just as represented. I can recommend it to all.
Wm. Rochow,
Wholesale Merchant, 5th street.

Unanimous Recommendation.

The following add their testimony for the Indian Blood Syrup:
H. E. Greaff, engineer P R R.
J. G. Smith, at Baldwins Steel Works.
Mrs. Snyder, of Columbia.
A. Breneer, of Washingtonburgh.
John Kenys, of Safe Harbor.

Would not be Without it.

Benton, Columbia county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—I have used your excellent INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP and have received much benefit therefrom. I could not get along without it.
Mrs. Barber.

Never Fails to Cure.

East Lemon, Wyoming Co. Pa.
Dear Sir:—I was sick for three years, and under professional treatment most of the time without being benefited. At last I was induced to try your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP and after a short trial, I found myself in better health than I had been for six years.
Mrs. Theron Ball.

Sure Cure for Liver Complaint.

Rohrsburg, Columbia Co, Pa.
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP has been used by me, for Liver Complaint, which had been troubling me for a long time I derived more benefit from the use of the Syrup than from any other medicine. I heartily recommend it, and advise all sufferers to give it a trial.
L P Smith.

Loss of Appetite.

Rohrsburg, Columbia county Pa.
Dear Sir:—I have used your excellent INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP for Loss of Appetite and Weakness of the Stomach, with very beneficial results. I believe your medicine to be the greatest blood purifier known, and advise all who may be suffering as I was to give it a speedy trial.
Mrs. E Avery.

Pains in Shoulders.

Rohrsburg, Columbia county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP has greatly relieved me of Pains in the Shoulder and Chest, which I had been afflicted with for years. I recommend it very highly.
Mrs. Mary Welsh.

Kidney Complaint.

Bear Gap, Columbia County, Pa.
Dear Sir:—My Father has been suffering with Kidney Complaint for a long time and had been under doctors' treatment, but the doctors could not effect a cure. I have been subject to a Numbness and Weakness in my Left Arm. We obtained some of your invaluable INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP from your Agent, Wm. H. Potter, and it has cured my father completely, and my arm is much better. It does not trouble me half so much. Your medicine is excellent.
Josiah John.

Female Complaints.

Bear Gap, Columbia county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I purchased some of your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP for my wife for Inflammation and Female Complaint, and it has given her relief.
J K Herner.

Best Medicine Ever Used.

Bear Gap, Columbia county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—My little son was troubled with his water passing from him constantly, day and night. I consulted two doctors and gave him medicine, but without effect. I bought some of your celebrated INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP, a short trial of which, cured him.
Lambert Camp.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Numidia, Columbia County, Pa.
Dear sir:—For many years my wife was afflicted with Dyspepsia, and we spent considerable money without receiving benefit. We procured some of your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP and she began to improve in health from the time she commenced its use.
Solomon D Snyder.

Liver Complaint.

Centralia, Columbia Co, Pa.
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was unwell and could scarcely attend to my work. I think my Liver was affected. I procured some of your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP and now, after a short trial, feel like a new man. I recommend its use to all.
Daniel Goodman.

Dyspepsia and Neuralgia.

Hyde Park, Luzerne Co., Pa.
Dear Sir:—Your valuable INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP has effected a permanent cure in my case. I had been afflicted with the Dyspepsia and Neuralgia, but am now entirely well.
Mrs. John Thornton.

Bilious Stomach Cured.

Hyde Park, Luzerne Co., Pa.
Dear Sir:—I have been troubled with Bilious Complaint and by the use of your INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP it has effectually cured me.
John N Williams.

BLOOMSBURG STATE NORMAL SCHOOL
SIXTH NORMAL SCHOOL DISTRICT.
Bloomsburg, Columbia County, Pennsylvania.

Rev. D. J. WALLER, Jr., A. M., Principal.

THIS SCHOOL, as at present constituted, offers the very best facilities for Professional and Classical learning.

Buildings spacious, inviting and commodious; completely heated by steam, well ventilated, lighted by gas, and furnished with a bountiful supply of pure, soft spring water.

Location healthful, and easy of access. Teachers experienced, efficient, and alive to their work. Discipline, firm but kind, uniform and thorough. Expenses moderate. Fifty cents a week deduction to all expecting to teach. Students admitted at any time. Rooms reserved when desired.

Courses of study prescribed by the State:

I. Model School. II. Preparatory. III. Elementary. IV. Classical.

Adjunct Courses: I. Academic. II. Commercial. III. Course in Music. IV. Course in Art. V. Course in Physical Culture.

The Elementary, Scientific and Classical Courses are PROFESSIONAL, and Students graduating therein, receive State Diplomas, conferring the following corresponding Degrees: Master of the Elements; Master of the Sciences; Master of the Classics. Graduates in the other Courses receive Normal Certificates of their attainments, signed by the Officers of the Board of Trustees.

The course of study prescribed by the State is liberal, and the Scientific and Classical courses are not inferior to those of our best Colleges.

The State requires a higher order of citizenship. The times demand it. It is one of the prime objects of this School to help to secure it, by furnishing intelligent and efficient Teachers for her Schools. To this end it solicits young persons of good abilities and good purposes,—those who desire to improve their time and their talents, as students. To all such it promises aid in developing their powers, and abundant opportunities for well paid labor after leaving school. For Catalogue, address the Principal.

HON. WILLIAM ELWELL, President Board of Trustees. F. P. BILLMYER, Secretary.

THE PULLEY SUSPENDER,

OR,

ARGOSY BRACE.

Some Reasons why these Suspenders are better than others.

1st. They contain no rubber.

2d. They will wear longer than any other suspenders.

3d. The cords run over pulleys, and consequently there can be no chafing or wearing them out.

4th. There can be no strain on any of the buttons, it being the only self-adjusting suspender in the world.
